

2016-2017 Etkin Johnson Student Scholarship Program

Following a successful pilot program, the Colorado District Council of Urban Land Institute (ULI Colorado) and Etkin Johnson are pleased to announce the 2016-2017 Student Scholarship Program with new elements designed to immerse its participants into the thriving real estate industry in Colorado. The program's mission is "To enlist college students in a program of engagement, mentorship, education and networking that fosters relationships with Urban Land Institute members, exposing the scholars to key Colorado real estate leaders at the same time introducing ULI and its goals to potential future members at an early stage."

Eligibility: Students enrolled in undergraduate and graduate real estate, business and related programs at Colorado colleges and universities are eligible to apply. Ten to 15 students will be selected based on completed applications. The program begins in September 2016 and extends through May 2017. Each student receives a one year ULI Colorado membership to ensure participation in events, special scholar activities and volunteer opportunities.

Student Opportunities: Student scholars will have unprecedented access to:

Exclusive student scholarship events ▪ Real Estate leaders ▪ the 1,200-member ULI Colorado community that includes developers, architects, title company executives, real estate brokers, construction managers and many more disciplines ▪ ULI Colorado young leaders ▪ presentations and discussions of the Most Current Issues facing the Colorado real estate community ▪ ULI Colorado staff and volunteers

Student Requirements: Each scholar student will spend up to 36 hours (or 4 hours per month) participating in a variety of projects, including:

- Events linking student scholars with ULI Colorado leadership,
- ULI Colorado monthly events and activities with student scholars highlighted,
- The chance to meet ULI members one-on-one, targeted to scholars' real estate interests,
- The opportunity to attend ULI Colorado committee meetings and Product Council events,
- The opportunity to contribute articles of 100 words or more to the ULI Colorado blog and web site, and
- An opportunity to extend the ULI membership with strong program participation.

To Apply: If you are an undergraduate or graduate student enrolled in the affiliated universities, or any university, in the real estate, construction management, business or other related fields you are eligible. Applications will be available in March at Colorado.uli.org with participants selected in April.
